If you didn't get the results you were hoping for during this applications cycle -or in other professional capacities- perhaps it is time to re-evaluate. Having a good GPA and LSAT score isn't enough to get you into law school. And having numbers below the medians isn't enough either. Are you heading to (or signing onto a Zoom for) a Law School Admissions fair and wondering how to get the most out of it? It's the beginning of a new cycle and Dean Z is here to help you get out ahead of financial aid. Of course, she can't give you all of the answers. Dean Z asks new Michigan Law Admissions Assistant Director Valerie about things that surprised her about law school. There's a lot of jargon that comes with working in law and Dean Z is here to make sure you know the basics. You might know most of it. If your GPA and LSAT score were the only two factors on whether you'd be admitted to law school, we could replace Dean Z with a computer. Choosing where to go to law school is a huge decision and should
